Take a look at our gallery of cool screensavers. Our collection of screensavers includes free screensavers, screensavers for Windows and Mac OS X. Now you can create your own beautiful screensaver. Download your free screensaver, add a photo, choose a theme. From the main page of the screen saver you can also create your own fun screen savers using our Screensaver Creator. After that you can download the screen savers created by other users on Screensavers.com. Windows 7 has a built-in screen saver for the reason that it is much easier for the PC to fall asleep than for example in Windows Vista. In addition, this is for security reasons, as if the PC falls asleep while a screen saver is playing, the screen will be locked and the user will not be able to interact with it. The built-in screen saver can be found at C:\Program Files\Microsoft\Windows\Screensaver. If you are installing a screen saver, you need to make sure that the name of the installer file is "screensaver". Also, you need to make sure that the screensaver is allowed to use files from the \Program Files directory, and that the executable is allowed to run files from the \Program Files\Microsoft\Windows\Screensaver directory. If you have questions about this, contact your system administrator or the help desk. When you use the built-in screen saver, the screen of your PC will be blank and black. After a period of inactivity, the screen saver will automatically start, and the user will be able to interact with the PC once again. The screen saver can be changed from the Windows control panel. You can also select between the built-in and third-party screen savers. Download this screensaver for your PC. Windows is famous for its user-friendly interface and its ability to help you do just about everything. It is designed for complete beginners to get to know the ropes and to enhance the performance of their PC. Create and edit macros that react to key presses. The macros are recorded mouse and keyboard actions such as moving the mouse, clicking with the mouse, pressing a key, and any other event you can think of. It allows you to have macros that perform multiple actions at once, for example the macro could be used to edit a text document, while the keyboard switches between the paragraph, the bulleted list, the text format, and the font style, in one keystroke! You could also use it to automatically perform a task everytime the computer starts, and automate simple maintenance tasks (e.g. updating the weather forecast). You can run macros on all operating systems that support VBScript (e.g. WinXP, Vista, and Linux). Features: Create and edit macros that react to key presses. Record mouse and keyboard actions such as moving the mouse, clicking with the mouse, pressing a key, and any other event you can think of.
