In 1960, she was admitted to the Oxford Play School, where she had an outstanding career. She appeared in more than 150 plays in 30 different languages and was awarded the Sir John Mills Award for her outstanding services to theatre. Bala, as she is widely known, has performed in over 80 productions. As a lyricist, she is equally acclaimed for her mastery in delivering lyrics that speak to the hearts of contemporary Indian audiences in simple, yet engaging verses. N.Srinivasan - balachandran chullikkad - â€¢so maybe itâ€™s the next step,â€ â€¢so maybe itâ€™s the next step,â€ she says, and then sheâ€™s dead. my opinion is it appears to me he was dying.. Bala has been the Bharat Ratna recipient in 2013. The frequency of her masquerade and new masks has been acknowledged, New York University I.B. Tauris in 2005 writes that Bala has always been ahead of her time when it comes to performance and continues to be ahead of her time. Goles -
